STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Governing document and constitution

THIRST was established as a Charitable Incorporated Organisation on 15th May 2020 and is a registered charity with no share capital. The charity is governed by its constitution, dated 20 February 2019.

All trustees are members of the charity. The only persons eligible to be members of the charity are its trustees and any member who ceases to be a charity trustee automatically ceases to be a member of the charity. As at 31 March 2023 there were 5 members. In the event of the charity being wound up, no liability accrues to the members for settling the charity's debts and liabilities.

Organisational structure

The governance of THIRST is carried out by a Board of Trustees that meets quarterly. Day-to-day management is delegated to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO).

Recruitment, appointment and induction of Trustees

Charity trustees are appointed for a term of 3 years, with the passing of a resolution by the existing trustees. Trustees must have due consideration to the skills, knowledge and experience needed of the effective administration of the charity. Newly appointed trustees are provided with a copy of the current version of the charity's constitution, together with the latest Trustees' Annual Report and financial statements.

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Principal Objectives

THIRST (The International Roundtable for Sustainable Tea) is established to promote sustainable development for the benefit of the public by providing a platform for civil society organisations to work together for:

- a) the preservation, conservation and the protection of the environment and the prudent use of natural resources in tea growing areas;
- b) the prevention and relief of poverty and the improvement of the conditions of life among the socially and economically disadvantaged communities on tea plantations and small tea farms;
- c) the promotion of sustainable means of achieving economic growth and regeneration of tea growing areas.

THIRST champions human rights in the global tea industry.

THIRST is a collaborative platform for all committed to transforming the tea industry into a fair and thriving industry for all involved. It is funded through grants, contributions from tea industry stakeholders, consultancy fees and income from tickets for events.

It provides a space for civil society, tea workers and farmers to work together towards systemic change via collaboration, transparency, mutual understanding and respect. Its vision is a fair and sustainable tea industry which respects and empowers tea workers and farmers, and protects their rights and environment.

THIRST's goals align with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, and the International Labour Organisation Conventions.

It seeks decent work and living wages, gender equity, improved health, housing, safety and benefits, protected environments and fair, effective and transparent systems.

The Trustees have complied with their duty to have due regard to the guidance, published by The Charity Commission (specifically PB2), on public benefit in exercising their powers or duties.

PERFORMANCE AND ACHIEVEMENTS APRIL 2022 - MARCH 2023

Research and analysis

Human Rights Impact Assessment of the Tea Sector

In 2022 we completed the first phase of our major, foundational study of human rights in the global tea sector. Mindful that many corporate human rights impact assessments (HRIAs) conclude that there is a limited amount that an individual company can do to resolve human rights issues in their supply chains, THIRST took a sector-wide approach. We are looking not only at the tea sector system as a whole but, also at the social, political and economic context within which it operates. By conducting the study in a participatory way, through consultation with a wide range of tea stakeholders across the world, we seek to ensure their buy-in and commitment when we get to the stage of making action plans. For more detail on the HRIA and how it works see the latest HRIA Update on our website.

- Phase 1: Literature review

- The summary report Human Rights in the Tea Sector – The Big Picture: Part 1 Literature Review, was published in May and the full report in June 2022.
- The report has been published on THIRST website and by the Business and Human Rights Resource Centre (with a mention in their weekly newsletter). It has been posted on ISEAL's Evidensia database ("a knowledge platform and initiative to share credible evidence on the impacts of market-based or supply chain-based approaches to sustainability") and formed the basis for an Evidensia learning event.
- Almost 50 participants attended a virtual international multi-stakeholder roundtable to reflect on findings. These included representatives of tea brands, producers, national tea associations, NGOs, multi-stakeholder initiatives and law firms etc, and joined from Canada, Germany, India, Iran, Kenya, Nepal, the Netherlands, Sweden, Thailand, UK, USA and Vietnam. Key points emerging included; tea prices are too low, quality and value of tea needs to be raised, and new business models need to be explored.

- Phase 2: Root cause analysis

We started conducting a global tea producer survey, key informant/stakeholder interviews and focus group discussion to gain a wide range of perspectives on the root causes of the gap between human rights in principle and in practice. The research extended into the next financial year (2023-24) and reached nearly 200 individuals from across the value chain in several countries. The resulting report Human Rights in the Tea Sector – The Big Picture: Part 2 Root Causes of Human Rights Breaches was published on December 19th 2023.

Advocacy

- Sexual abuse in the tea sector - Malawi:

In 2022, a court case was brought against a British tea supplier concerning widespread sexual abuse on tea plantations in Malawi. THIRST led a group of ETI NGO members to call on corporate ETI members connected with the company to ensure a robust and systemic response which looked not only at what was happening on the ground, but also at the systemic drivers of the problem such as recruitment practices, gender imbalances in employment structures etc. We provided input into the evidence gathering by Leigh Day lawyers and the case was ultimately settled.

The International Roundtable for Sustainable Tea

- Sexual abuse in the tea sector - Kenya:

In early 2023 BBC Africa and Panorama released a documentary exposing sexual exploitation by managers within at Finlays and Unilever (now ekaterra/Lipton's Tea and Infusions) estates in Kenya, who supply several major brands and retailers. Once again, THIRST worked closely with fellow ETI NGO members to push for a systemic response. We continued to liaise closely with the steering group responding to the situation and with ETI's Food, Farming and Fisheries lead. (In August 2023 THIRST's CEO was invited to brief a group of Kenyan NGOs working against sexual violence in the country, on how these issues manifest in the tea sector and what particular challenges they may face.)

Outcomes of our activities

It is very hard to quantify the outcomes and impacts of THIRST's work at this stage. We are still in the process of raising awareness about human rights breaches in the tea sector and the role of the industry in perpetuating these. We are also pushing for the industry to take a more systemic approach to responding to issues that emerge rather than purely through philanthropic projects on the ground that ignore the root causes of the problem.

We can only get a sense of the impact of this work through the level of engagement in our activities and the prioritisation of workers in the tea sector. In 2015, ETI members called to a meeting to respond to the uprising of women workers in a South Indian tea plantation claimed that tea was not a high priority for them. Now many supermarkets place tea within their shortlist of high risk supply chains.

The financial investments that tea companies, supermarkets, certification bodies and human rights organisations have made into THIRST and our HRIA are a testament to how much they value the work.

The number of companies and organizations that approach THIRST for advice on human rights in the tea sector also confirms both the commitment to people in the tea sector and the fact that THIRST is supplying a need.

After the completion of the HRIA, once we have conducted a series of international, multi-stakeholder roundtables in key tea growing and market regions, we will be in a better position to set SMART objectives and clear KPIs for our work and to observe its impact on tea industry stakeholders and on the women and men at the source of the tea value chain.

Feedback from our network

Monthly updates:

- "useful & interesting round up. thank you" Fiona Gooch, Traidcraft
- "We are very impressed with the work you are doing. The projects are most worthy, and I find your newsletter exceptional. Reliable information is so important, and your choice of sources and topics is impeccable. What is evident is that you follow the news with a keen eye. You instantly reject misinformation, essential for a media gatekeeper today." Dan Bolton, TeaBiz.

- "Great analysis, Sabita. Thank you. You highlight the centrality of rights-holder engagement by companies if they seek effective human rights due diligence in their operations or supply chains. This is the only effective way to identify the salient, severe and prevalent risks of abuse. As the EU's Corporate Sustainability and Due Diligence Directive is finalised this year, it is critical that this approach to corporate due diligence is embedded in the regulation (and not the tick-box, social audit approach). This will be no magic bullet, but it will complement and help drive the approach to eliminating abuse that you describe so well." Phil Bloomer, ED BHRRC'

- "Your expertise and thought-provoking ideas have profoundly enriched the pluralist discussions in Scotland, specifically invoking valuable insights on how we can shape the future of justice in the tea sector, particularly in the face of the challenges posed by climate change. Your passion and commitment to creating a more inclusive economic discourse, with a wider range of voices, are truly inspiring." Craig Menzies, Scottish Pluralism Economics Conference

FINANCIAL REVIEW

THIRST's funding this year came primarily from the tea industry itself in the form of consultancies, contributions towards the HRIA and purchasing tickets to THIRST events. Financial contributors and clients included:

- Ahmad Tea
- Ergon Associates
- Ethical Trading Initiative
- Fairtrade International
- IDH
- Oxfam
- Rainforest Alliance
- Tesco
- Twinings

During the year the charitable organisation received total income of £77,085 (2022: £71,991), of which £56,084 (2022: £32,515) related to Restricted Fund activities.

Total expenditure was £58,879 (2022: £66,186), of which £48,850 (2022: £29,950) related to Restricted Fund activities. These figures include amounts of £Nil (2022: £27,574) in relation to unrestricted, in kind, donated services.

The charity generated a surplus for the year of £18,206 (2022: Surplus £5,805), of which £7,234 (2022: £2,565) related to Restricted Funds.

At the year end the charity had total funds of £21,138 (2022: £2,932), of which £11,339 (2022: £367) were Unrestricted Funds and £9,799 (2022: £2,565) were Restricted Funds.

PLANS FOR FUTURE PERIODS

THIRST's primary focus will continue to be on its Human Rights Impact Assessment (HRIA) of the Global Tea Sector. In 2024 we will move into the Action Planning phase – bringing together a cross section of tea industry stakeholders to use the findings of Phases 1 & 2 (literature review and root cause analysis) to decide on the most effective actions and collaborations to take.

As we reach the end of the HRIA, we will also begin to explore how climate change is impacting on tea workers and farmers and their communities, and what they and the companies that employ and buy from them can do to prevent and mitigate climate impacts.

We will review our website to make it more user-friendly and efficient to maintain. We will continue to provide our news updates (though possibly on a quarterly rather than monthly basis) and updating our Knowledge Hub. We will continue to respond where ad hoc events call for advocacy and will seize every opportunity to promote the human rights, wellbeing, and empowerment of tea workers and farmers and for measures that will ensure their environment, and the global environment, is protected from harm.

THANKS AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

THIRST would like to offer our heartfelt thanks to everyone who has supported our work through voluntary work, advice, financial and moral support and who have provided encouragement, support, advice, donations, subscribed to THIRST updates and participated in our roundtables. Above all we thank the workers and farmers who grow our tea, their families and communities, and all the tea industry stakeholders that have participated in our research.

I report to the trustees on my examination of the financial statements of The International Roundtable for Sustainable Tea ('the charity') for the year ended 31 March 2023.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the trustees of the charity you are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ('the Act').

I report in respect of my examination of the charity's financial statements carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe that in any material respect:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of the charity as required by section 130 of the Act; or
2. the financial statements do not accord with those records; or
3. the financial statements do not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Notes to the Financial Statements

1. General information

The charity is a public benefit entity and a registered charity in England and Wales and is a Charitable Incorporated Organisation. The address of the principal office is 44 Princes Street, Oxford, OX4 1DD

2. Statement of compliance

These financial statements have been prepared in compliance with FRS 102, 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and the Republic of Ireland', the Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (Charities SORP (FRS 102)) and the Charities Act 2011.

3. Accounting policies

Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis, as modified by the revaluation of certain financial assets and liabilities and investment properties measured at fair value through income or expenditure.

The financial statements are prepared in sterling, which is the functional currency of the entity.

Going concern

There are no material uncertainties about the charity's ability to continue.

Judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported. These estimates and judgements are continually reviewed and are based on experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

In the view of the trustees in applying the accounting policies adopted, no judgements were required that have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements nor do any estimates or assumptions made carry a significant risk of material adjustment in the next financial year.

Fund accounting

Unrestricted funds are available for use at the discretion of the trustees to further any of the charity's purposes.

Designated funds are unrestricted funds earmarked by the trustees for particular future project or commitment.

Restricted funds are subjected to restrictions on their expenditure declared by the donor or through the terms of an appeal, and fall into one of two sub-classes: restricted income funds or endowment funds.

Incoming resources

All incoming resources are included in the statement of financial activities when entitlement has passed to the charity; it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the charity and the amount can be reliably measured. The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:

- income from donations or grants is recognised when there is evidence of entitlement to the gift, receipt is probable and its amount can be measured reliably.
- legacy income is recognised when receipt is probable and entitlement is established.
- income from donated goods is measured at the fair value of the goods unless this is impractical to measure reliably, in which case the value is derived from the cost to the donor or the estimated resale value. Donated facilities and services are recognised in the accounts when received if the value can be reliably measured. No amounts are included for the contribution of general volunteers.
- income from contracts for the supply of services is recognised with the delivery of the contracted service. This is classified as unrestricted funds unless there is a contractual requirement for it to be spent on a particular purpose and returned if unspent, in which case it may be regarded as restricted.

Resources expended

Expenditure is recognised on an accruals basis as a liability is incurred. Expenditure includes any VAT which cannot be fully recovered, and is classified under headings of the statement of financial activities to which it relates:

- expenditure on raising funds includes the costs of all fundraising activities, events, non-charitable trading activities, and the sale of donated goods.
- expenditure on charitable activities includes all costs incurred by a charity in undertaking activities that further its charitable aims for the benefit of its beneficiaries, including those support costs and costs relating to the governance of the charity apportioned to charitable activities.
- other expenditure includes all expenditure that is neither related to raising funds for the charity nor part of its expenditure on charitable activities.

All costs are allocated to expenditure categories reflecting the use of the resource. Direct costs attributable to a single activity are allocated directly to that activity. Shared costs are apportioned between the activities they contribute to on a reasonable, justifiable and consistent basis.
